

Jumble Bells

I got a good deal on this Christmas CD from the dollar store, but these track titles don't look quite right....

Rock back and forth in a feeding trough.

A tiny percussionist plaything at the first Christmas.

Trying to identify the Tex-Mex spicy stew of beans, meat, and tomatoes.

Did the NYC Thanksgiving Day parade sponsor understand?

A holiday trip on the USS Enterprise.

Shout it on the high rocky elevation.

The holiday Japanese-made TV brand (with roasting chestnuts).

Fill the passageways with waterfowl.

The adversary of Whoville has a svelte figure.

The quiet octet.

Listen to the heavenly messengers use the Microsoft search engine.

A joyful song about the stomach.

Honey, it's mixed gender out there (but, I really can't stay...).

The one with the shiny, semiconductor light source.

I witnessed a trio of switchblades (a classic English tune).

An attractive flutist (with ribbons of blue).

Tofu for the Earth.
