

The Picnic

The July 4 town picnic held their annual bake-off competition, with prizes for first, second, and third place. Unfortunately, the judges' notes got scattered by the wind. Maybe you can get things back in order?

The computer programmer is allergic to fruit.

Neither Kennedy nor the mechanic came in first.

Aubrey and the karate instructor tried the eclair in addition to their own desserts.

After the awards, the person who made the tiramisu went out for coffee with Jordan and the computer programmer.

The mechanic agreed with the judges that the apple pie was better than their dessert.

Aubrey's dessert did not place last.
